

ABORTION

While I have myself consistently voted against any relaxation of the abortion laws during my forty years in the House of Commons I am not at present, as a Deputy Speaker, able to speak or vote upon legislation in respect of this matter. I have however taken the opportunity to make my own views privately known to Ministers.